CHARTERS.

40th GEORGE III.

22nd March, 1800.

GEORGE THE THIRD, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c. To all to whom these Presents shall come, Whereas our Royal Predecessor, King Edward IV., by certain Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of England, bearing date the 24th Day of February, in the first Year of his Reign, did at the Supplication of the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London, using the Mystery or Faculty of Surgery, grant to them, among other Things, that the said Mystery, and all the Men of the same Mystery of the said City, should be one Body and Perpetual Community, and that two Principals of the same Commonalty, of the most expert Men in the Mystery of Surgery, might, with the assent of twelve or eight Persons at the least, of the same Community, every Year elect and make out of the Community, two Masters, or Governors, being the most expert in the Mystery of Surgery, to oversee, rule, and govern, the Mystery and Commonalty aforesaid.

Recital of the Letters Patent of 1st Edward 4th; incorporating the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London.

And whereas by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the 32d Year of the late King Henry VIII. intitled for Barbers and Surgeons, after reciting, that, within the City of London, there were then two several and distinct Companies of Surgeons, occupying and exercising the Faculty of Surgery, one Company called the Barbers of London, and the other Company called the Surgeons of London. It was thereby enacted, That the said two several and distinct Companies of Surgeons should from thenceforth be united, and made one intire and whole Body Corporate, and one Commonalty Perpetual, which at all times thereafter should be called by the Name of the Masters or Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty of the Barbers and Surgeons of London; and by the same Name to implead and be impleaded before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Suits.

Of the Act 32d Henry 8th.

By which the two Companies of Barbers of London, and Surgeons of London were united.

Of the Letters Patent of 5th Charles 1st.

Which confirmed to such united Company all the possessions, franchises and liberties which the said Company then held and enjoyed, with power to make annual Elections of Masters or Governors whereof two to be Professors in Surgery; and to elect ten Freemen to be Examiners.

And whereas, in and by certain Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of England, bearing Date the 15th Day of August, in the 5th Year of the Reign of His late Majesty, King Charles I., reciting that the Men of the same Companies enjoyed divers Liberties and Franchises within the City of London, the Suburbs and Liberties thereof, by virtue of divers Acts of Parliament, and divers Charters, and Letters Patent, His said Majesty did grant and confirm unto the said Masters and Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty aforesaid, and their Successors, all and singular the Manors, Messuages, Lands, Tenements, Customs, Liberties, Franchises, Immunities, Jurisdictions, and Hereditaments, whatsoever, which the Men of the said Companies then held, used, and enjoyed, by any lawful Means or Title whatsoever: And his said late Majesty did thereby give power to the said Corporation, to make annual Elections of Masters or Governors of the said Commonalty, whereof two to be Professors in the Art and Science of Surgery; and also to elect and constitute ten of the Freemen of the said Society to be Examiners of Surgeons in London.

Recital of the Act of 18th of George 2d.

by which the Union of the two Companies was dissolved;

and which constituted a distinct Company of Surgeons, by the Name of "The Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London."

And whereas, by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the 18th Year of the Reign of our late Royal Grandfather, King George II., intitled "An Act for making the Surgeons of London, and the Barbers of London, two separate and distinct Corporations," It was enacted, that the said Union and Incorporation of the Barbers and Surgeons of London, made and effected by the aforesaid Act of the 32d Year of King Henry VIII. should, from and after the 24th Day of June, 1745, be dissolved and declared void and of no effect; and that such of the Members of the said united Company who were Freemen of the said Company, and admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company, and their Successors, should from thenceforth be made, and they were thereby made and constituted, a separate and distinct Body Corporate and Commonalty Perpetual, which at all times thereafter were to be called by the Name of Master, Governors and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, and by the same Name might implead and be impleaded before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits, and take to them and their Successors, Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, not exceeding the yearly Value of £200 in the whole.

Recital that such Corporation was dissolved.

And whereas, we are informed that the said Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London, hath become and now is dissolved: And whereas, it is of great consequence to the Commonweal of this Kingdom, that the Art and Science of Surgery should be duly promoted: And whereas, it appears to us, that the Establishment of a College of Surgeons will be expedient for the due promotion and encouragement of the Study and Practice of the said Art and Science, Now We, of our special Grace and mere Motion, and at the humble Petition of James Earle, Esquire, the late Master, and divers other Members of the aforesaid late Corporation of Surgeons; have willed, ordained, constituted, declared, given and granted, and by these Presents, for Us, Our Heirs, and Successors, do will, ordain, constitute, and declare, give and grant; unto the aforesaid James Earle, and unto all the Members of the said late Company or Corporation of Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons of London; having been admitted and approved Surgeons, within the Rules of the said Company; and also unto all such Persons, who upon, or since, the dissolution of the said Corporation, shall have obtained Letters Testimonial, under a Seal purporting to be the Seal of the said late dissolved Corporation, authorizing them to practise the Art and Science of Surgery; and they, from henceforth for ever hereafter, shall be and remain by virtue of these Presents, one Body Corporate and Politic; by the Name of The Royal College of Surgeons in London, and by the same Name shall and may have perpetual Succession, and a Common Seal; with power to break, alter, and make anew the said Seal, from time to time at their will and pleasure; and by the same Name shall and may implead, and be impleaded, before all manner of Justices, in all Courts, and in all manner of Actions and Suits; and shall be at all times for ever hereafter persons able and capable in Law to take, purchase, possess, hold, and enjoy, and shall and may take, purchase, possess, hold and enjoy, a Hall or Council-house, with its Appurtenances, situate within the Cities of London or Westminster, or within one Mile of either of them, for the use and purposes of the said College; and also any other Lands, Tenements, Rents, or Hereditaments, wheresoever situate, lying and being; not exceeding, together with the aforesaid Hall or Council-house, and its appurtenances, the yearly value of one thousand Pounds in the whole; without incurring any of the Penalties in any Statute of Mortmain, or any Thing, in any Statute of Mortmain, to the contrary notwithstanding.

That it is of great consequence that the Science of Surgery should be duly promoted, and that a College will be expedient for the due encouragement thereof.

Therefore His Majesty was pleased to incorporate the Members of the late Company, and all such Persons who since the Dissolution thereof have obtained Letters Testimonial &c.

By the name of "The Royal College of Surgeons in London."

With perpetual succession and a common seal;

and power to hold and enjoy a Council-house within London or Westminster or one mile of either of them; and to possess lands and tenements, including such Council-House of the yearly value of £1000 in mortmain.

And it is Our further Will and Pleasure, that nothing in these Presents

Proviso.—That the City of London shall not have any jurisdiction over the College.

Nor the Members of the College enjoy any franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City of London.

shall be construed to give the Corporation of the City of London any Power or Jurisdiction over the said College hereby established and incorporated; and that no Person, by virtue of these our Letters Patent, constituted or ordained, or hereafter to be admitted a Member of the said College, shall be thereby entitled to any Franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City of London.

The College to enjoy all other privileges and possessions by any former Acts or Letters Patent, given to, or otherwise acquired by, the late Company, not hereby altered, &c.

And it is Our further Will and Pleasure, and we do hereby, so far as We lawfully can or may, grant and ordain, that the said Royal College of Surgeons hereby incorporated, shall and may exercise and enjoy all and singular other the Gifts, Grants, Liberties, Privileges and Immunities, Possessions, real and personal, whatsoever and wheresoever, hereinbefore mentioned, or by any Act or Acts of Parliament, or by any Letters Patent, of Our Royal Predecessors, Kings and Queens of England given, granted, and confirmed unto, or otherwise lawfully acquired by, and belonging to the said late Master, Governors, and Commonalty of the Art and Science of Surgeons; or any of them, and not hereby altered, taken away, changed, or abridged, made void, or annulled.

THE COUNCIL.

The Council, the governing body of the College, consists of twenty-four Members, three* of whom, when no vacancy, either by the resignation or death of a Life Member, has occurred during the year, go out in rotation annually in July, but are eligible for re-election by the Fellows of the College. All proceedings of the Court of Examiners, the Midwifery and Dental Boards, and the several Committees are reported to the Council for approval and confirmation. The Meetings of the Council are generally held in each month of the year, except in the month of September, and at such other times as the business of the College may require. During the past Collegiate Year there have been ten Meetings.

* If in any year one of the three retiring Members be President of the College, he does not go out of office until the succeeding year.

THE COURT OF EXAMINERS.

The Court of Examiners consists of ten Members elected by the Council from the Fellows of the College. The Court superintends the carrying out generally the regulations of the Council relating to the preliminary and professional education of Students, and conducts the professional examinations of Candidates for the Diplomas of Fellow and Member of the College. During the past Collegiate year the Court has held six Meetings for the Examinations for the Fellowship, and fifty-one Meetings for the Primary and Pass Examinations for the Membership. The following is a statement of the number of Candidates who presented themselves for the Fellowship and Membership respectively, with the results of the several Examinations, viz.:—

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN MIDWIFERY.

The Board consists of four Members annually elected, viz. :—The Chairman, one of the Vice-Presidents of the College, and three other Members, who are required to be elected either from the Fellows or Members of the College, or from the Fellows or Licentiates of the Royal College of Physicians of London. The Board conducts the Examination of Candidates for the Licence in Midwifery. There have not been any Candidates examined during the year.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN DENTAL SURGERY.

The Board consists of six Members elected by the Council for five years, viz. :—three Members of the Court of Examiners of the College, and three other persons skilled in Dental Surgery. The Board conducts the Examination of Candidates for the Diploma in Dental Surgery of the College. During the year eight Candidates have been examined, six of whom passed to the satisfaction of the Board.

THE MUSEUM.

The Hunterian Collection, which forms the basis, and still a large proportion, of the contents of the present Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, was originally arranged in a building which its Founder, John Hunter, erected for it in 1784, behind his house in Leicester Square.

John Hunter died October 16th, 1793, aged 65. By his will he directed the Museum to be offered in the first instance to the British Government, on such terms as might be considered reasonable, and in case of refusal, to be sold in one lot, either to some foreign state, or as his executors might think proper.

In the year 1799 Parliament voted the sum of £15,000 for the Museum, and an offer of it being made to the Corporation of Surgeons, it was accepted on the terms proposed by Government*.

In 1806 the sum of £15,000 was voted by Parliament in aid of the erection of an edifice for the display and arrangement of the Hunterian Collection; a second grant of £12,500 was subsequently voted, and upwards of £21,000 having been supplied from the funds of the College, the building was completed in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, in which the Museum was opened for the inspection of visitors in the year 1813.

* The following are the Terms and Conditions on which the Hunterian Collection, purchased by Parliament, was delivered to the late Corporation of Surgeons; which Corporation having become dissolved, the Members thereof were re-incorporated by Charter, dated the 22nd day of March, 1800, under the Title of The Royal College of Surgeons in London:—

1st. The Collection shall be open Four Hours in the Forenoon of two days every week for Inspection and Consultation of the Fellows of the College of Physicians, the Members of the Company of Surgeons and Persons properly introduced by them; a Catalogue of the Preparations, and a proper Person to explain it, being at those times always in the Room.

2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twenty-four in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by the Preparations, shall be given every year by some Member of the Company.

3rd. That the Preparations shall be kept in a state of Preservation, and the Collection in as perfect a state as possible, at the Expense of the Corporation of Surgeons, subject to the annual Inspection and Superintendence of the Trustees.

4th. That there shall be a Board of Trustees, to consist of sixteen (increased to seventeen by the Lords of the Treasury in 1856) Members, by virtue of their Public Offices, and of fourteen others, to be appointed, in the first instance, by the Lords of the Treasury, and afterwards to be elected, as Vacancies may happen, by a Majority of the remaining Trustees.

5th. That the Museum shall always be open for the Inspection of all or any of the said Trustees, who are to take care that the Corporation of Surgeons perform their Engagements respecting the said Collection. That a day be appointed for the annual Inspection of the Museum, by the Trustees acting collectively as a Board; and that they are also to have quarterly Meetings, for the transacting of any Business relative to the Museum, and for the filling up of such Vacancies as may happen in the number of the Trustees; and that the Corporation of Surgeons shall engage some Person to officiate as Secretary to the Board upon such occasions, and to issue previous Notice to the Members, in which he is to state particularly whether any Vacancies are to be filled up by new Elections.

In consequence of the large number of additions, this building became too small for the adequate display and arrangement of its contents; and more space being at the same time required for the rapidly increasing Library, the greater portion of the present building was erected, wholly at the expense of the College, in 1835, at a cost of about £40,000, and the Hunterian and Collegiate Collections were re-arranged in what are now termed the Western and Middle Museums, which were opened for the inspection of visitors in 1836.

Further enlargement of the building having become necessary by the continued increase of the Collection, the College, in 1847, purchased the extensive premises of Mr. Alderman Copeland, in Portugal Street, for the sum of £16,000, and in 1852 proceeded to the erection of the Eastern Museum, at the expense of £25,000, Parliament granting £15,000 in aid thereof. The re-arrangement of the specimens was completed, and the additional portion of the building opened to visitors in 1855.

The Hunterian Collection was estimated to consist of 13,682 specimens, distributed under the following heads:—

Physiological Department, or Normal Structures.

Physiological preparations in spirit	3745
Osteological preparations	965
Dry do.	617
Zoological do.	1968
Fossils:—
Vertebrate	1215
Invertebrate	2202
Plants	292

Pathological Department, or Abnormal Structures.

Preparations in spirit	1084
Dry preparations (including bones)	625
Calculi and concretions	536
Monsters and Malformations	218
Microscopic preparations	215

Of the additions by which the size and value of the Collection have been so materially increased since it came into the possession of the College, very many have been presented by Fellows and Members of the College, and other persons interested in scientific pursuits. Among the largest contributions from this source have been the Collection, consisting of 847 specimens, presented in 1811 by Sir William Blizard, and a valuable series of Pathological specimens presented in 1851 by Sir Stephen L. Hammick. At the same time the Council of the College have availed themselves of various opportunities as they have occurred to purchase specimens of interest, especially at the dispersion of private anatomical and pathological museums, as that of Sir A. Lever in 1806, of Mr. Joshua Brookes in 1828, of Mr. Heaviside in 1829, Mr. Langstaff in 1835, Mr. South in the same year, Mr. Howship and Mr. Taunton in 1841, Mr. Liston in 1842, Mr. Walker in 1843, and, deserving of especial mention on account of the great number and value of the specimens acquired, that of Sir Astley Cooper in 1843.

The Histological Collection, of which the 215 Hunterian specimens (prepared by Hewson) constitute the nucleus, was chiefly formed by the late Professor Quekett, with considerable additions by purchase from Dr. Tweedy J. Todd, Mr. Nasmyth, and Professor Lenhossek. It now contains upwards of 12,000 specimens, all arranged and catalogued so as to be readily available for reference.

The Superintendence of the Museum is confided by the Council of the College to a Committe of its Members, which Committee has held four meetings during the past year.

A summary of the progress made in the preservation, arrangement, and augmentation of the Collection will be found in the following Report:—

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CONSERVATOR TO THE MUSEUM COMMITTEE.

(Presented June 29th, 1874.)

I HAVE much satisfaction in reporting that the Museum has been maintained in good order and has received considerable accessions during the year, notwithstanding the absence from my duties for a period of six months, considerately granted me by the Council on account of a temporary failure of health. My colleagues, Dr. Goodhart and Mr. Alban Doran (who was appointed Assistant in the Museum in November last in succession to Mr. Lidderdale, resigned), and the whole of the staff have most efficiently carried on the duties of their various departments, according to arrangements made before my departure. The only important work that has been interrupted has been the rearrangement and cataloguing of the Palæontological Collections, the need of which was alluded to in the last Report, and which I hope shortly to be able to resume.

PATHOLOGICAL COLLECTION.

As many as 274 of the preparations in this series have been remounted during the year, and 66 new ones have been added. Among the latter is an interesting complete articulated skeleton, showing a very peculiar condition of the vertebral column, arrest of development of the left side of the lower cervical and upper dorsal vertebræ and of the first left rib, with ankylosis of the bodies of the corresponding vertebræ, accompanied by angular curvature of the upper lumbar region.

It may not be out of place to take this opportunity of reminding the Members of the Committee, and through them the profession generally, of the desirability of giving larger support to this department of the Museum by means of donations.

The College, having none of the facilities for obtaining and selecting specimens possessed by the Museums of Medical Schools attached to Hospitals where operations and post-mortem examinations are of constant occurrence, is entirely dependent upon the contributions of those who desire to see the Hunterian Museum worthily maintain its place as a central or national institution for illustrating, as far as may be by preserved specimens, the facts of pathological anatomy.

The Conservators are well aware of the difficulties in the way of obtaining what is here asked for—the trouble and occasional expense of forwarding specimens*, the necessity for promptitude in doing so, the frequent deterioration or destruction of the specimens by packing or travelling, and, lastly, the disappointment which must often be felt by the donor at finding that the specimen, being a duplicate, or not in good condition, or, as too often happens, from not having any history sent with it, does not obtain a permanent place on the Museum shelves. But an earnest desire to promote the objects of the collection will overcome all of these. The profession may satisfy themselves by an inspection of the annual exhibition of new preparations, and of the collection in the galleries of the Museum, that every specimen which really supplies a deficiency in any series will be duly cared for, properly dissected, catalogued, and, without more delay than is absolutely necessary in preparation, exhibited in its proper place in the Museum. It will be easily understood that discrimination in respect to selection must be left to the Conservators, who in all doubtful cases refer to the Museum Committee. It is almost impossible to say beforehand, without a careful examination of a specimen, and often until it is actually dissected and mounted, whether it ought or ought not to be placed in the Museum; its value depends not on its being an example of a particular disease, but upon whether or to what extent it exhibits and illustrates the anatomical characters of that disease. It is moreover desirable, in a Museum maintained in an efficient teaching condition, that old or inferior specimens should be occasionally replaced by others showing the same facts in a more perfect manner.

Probably the idea that all departments of Pathology are adequately represented already in so large a collection as ours deters many from sending specimens which, although comparatively common, are still desiderata—among which may specially be mentioned Lardaceous diseases of Viscera, Visceral Syphilis, Phthisis (more especially the chronic fibroid form), and Diseases of the Valves of the Heart.

Osteological Collection.

The collection of Comparative Anthropology has been considerably increased during the year; and the series of articulated skeletons of different races of men begin to form an important feature in the Museum. A female Australian from Queensland, and two very characteristic West-African Negroes from the seat of the late war, presented a few years back by Staff-Surgeon J. R. Thomas, though not recent additions to the Museum, have during the past year been mounted and added to this series. Two skeletons (both young females) from an ancient burial-ground in Bolivia, of the characteristic short-headed race, have been presented by Reginald J. G. Leigh, Esq., who brought the bodies in the desiccated condition in which they are preserved for ages, owing to the dryness and chemical qualities of the soil. Before they were made into skeletons, photographs were taken to show the peculiar attitude of interment and the condition of the soft parts of the bodies. These photographs are placed by the side of the skeletons in the Museum. A wound inflicted by a sharp instrument in the forehead of both subjects appears to indicate that they died a violent death, perhaps (as suggested by Mr. Busk) as sacrifices. A very interesting skeleton, that of an old man of the Samoyede race, from the northernmost part of Russia, has been purchased. The principal peculiarities of this specimen have been pointed out by Mr. Busk, in a communication lately read before the Anthropological Institute.

* It need hardly be said that the carriage and other attendant expenses will in all cases be willingly paid on receipt of the parcel at the College.

It is singular that the very remarkable race which for some thousands of years occupied so important a position in history, and with whom so much of the arts and sciences of the civilized world appears to have originated, the Ancient Egyptians, are most inadequately represented in our craniological collections. Yet this race of all others, by their universal practice of embalming the dead, took the most efficient measures for giving those that lived after them the opportunity of studying their physical characteristics, as by the graphic representations with which they covered the walls of their tombs and temples they perpetuated a knowledge of their manners and customs while living. Our Museum a year ago only contained nine crania ascribed to inhabitants of Ancient Egypt; and the largest general collection of skulls in England, that of Dr. Barnard Davis*, has only ten. It is much to be feared that the opportunity of forming a really valuable collection of the skulls of these people, authenticated as to locality and probable antiquity, is rapidly passing away, and ere long will be entirely lost. In the eager search for papyri, scarabæi, and other archæological treasures, the inmates of all the known and accessible tombs have been literally torn to pieces, and the scattered fragments of their bodies thrown out on the desert sand to perish under the scorching sun, or with their bitumenized wrappings to serve as fuel for their degenerate successors. During my recent visit to Egypt I was fortunately able to secure and bring home ten skulls in tolerably perfect condition from the great necropolis of Thebes, which have now been cleaned and added to the Collection; and I would suggest to others who may have the privilege of travelling in that most interesting land to make a similar contribution to the preserved and accessible

* This magnificent collection, at the time of the publication of the Catalogue in 1867, numbered 1540 specimens. Our Museum contains at present 937, of which 284 are described in the Catalogue published in 1853, and 653 have been added since.

materials for the history of the human species. As the number of such specimens is absolutely limited, their value will certainly be very much increased in the future in consequence of the greater attention to the subject of Anthropology and the multiplication of Museums.

These skulls, in the injury to the ethmoid bone, all confirm the statement of Herodotus, in his description of the method of embalming practised by the Ancient Egyptians, that "in the first place, with an iron hook, they draw out the brain through the nostrils, and fill up the vacuum by injecting drugs."

Among other additions to the general Osteological Series are two very instructive skulls of fishes, the Salmon and Trout, in which the central cartilaginous portions are reproduced by a plastic composition, and the ossified bones around them are consequently retained in their natural position and relations, which in the old system of mounting fishes' skulls was almost impossible.

Two skeletons of the Fur-Seal of the Falkland Islands (Otaria falklandica), male and female, have been presented by Mr. Coleman, who has thus liberally availed himself of his opportunities, as Secretary to the Falkland Islands Company, of furthering a scientific knowledge of the animals which have hitherto only been treated as a source of pecuniary gain. Dr. Horace N. Watts, formerly Colonial Surgeon at the Islands, has also presented a very fine skull of the Sea-lion (Otaria jubata).

Mr. Sclater has presented two valuable skulls of young individuals of Baird's Tapir (Tapirus bairdii) from Mexico, showing the progress of ossification of the remarkable nasal septum characteristic of this species; and Mr. R. Swinhoe, of H.M. Consular Service, who has added so greatly to our knowledge of the zoology of China, has, as on several previous occasions, enriched the Osteological Series by various specimens collected by himself, including a perfect example of the Water-Deer (Hydropotis inermis), remarkable for its great canine teeth and absence of antlers. The existence of this animal was quite unknown to science until it was discovered a few years since by Mr. Swinhoe in the neighbourhood of Shanghai. Many of the specimens sent to the Museum by Mr. Swinhoe during the past year are still in preparation, and so cannot appear in the list of additions to the Museum till next year, as is also the case with a small collection of skeletons and skulls of animals which I made in Egypt.

To the series of Cetacean skeletons a long-desired addition has been obtained in a complete specimen of the very singular freshwater Dolphin of the Ganges (Platanista gangetica), received, through the courtesy of Professor Rolleston, in exchange with the Oxford University Museum. The animal was captured by T. P. Griffiths, Esq., about two hundred miles north-west of Calcutta. As a duplicate skeleton of a Thylacine or Tasmanian Wolf, sent to us last year by Mr. W. L. Crowther, F.R.C.S., of Hobart Town, formed a considerable part of the per contra of this exchange, we may fairly include the Platanista among the numerous contributions for which the Museum is indebted to that gentleman.

We have also to thank Dr. Julius Haast, F.R.S., of the Canterbury Museum, Christchurch, New Zealand, for a skeleton of one of the smaller species of the extinct wingless birds of that country (Dinornis didiformis), far more complete than any which we have yet received, and which shows very well the general characters of the race, though on a diminutive scale compared to some of its gigantic congeners, isolated bones of which have long been in the Museum.

In addition to the specimens of the articulator's work exhibited to the Committee to-day, a skeleton of a Jackal has been mounted and presented to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, at the request of the Secretary of that liberally managed establishment, as a specimen of the method of articulation introduced and carried out by Mr. James Flower in this Museum.

Physiological Collection.

266 preparations have been remounted during the past twelve months.

The new specimens are almost entirely the work of Mr. Pearson, Mr. Doran's time having been mainly occupied by the Court of Examiners and the general business of the Museum. The principal additions are in continuation of the series which is intended to illustrate exhaustively the anatomy of the human body. Nineteen preparations are devoted to the ligaments and ten to the arterial system, which, with those already in the Museum, almost complete their respective series.

There are also some interesting preparations in comparative anatomy which help to fill up lacunæ in the Collection. For most of these we have to thank Mr. Sclater and Mr. A. H. Garrod, of the Zoological Society, who continue to show their appreciation of this Museum, as a means of preserving and diffusing anatomical knowledge, by depositing in it many of the specimens of interest which come before them in the dissections so ably and systematically carried on in the admirably managed Gardens of the Society. These include five preparations of the muscular system of birds, specially illustrating a very important memoir on that subject lately published by Mr. Garrod, in which it is shown, from a large series of dissections, that the presence or absence of certain muscles of the thigh and leg are constant distinguishing characters of many natural groups, and of great assistance in the very difficult subject of classification of this class of Vertebrates.

There have been numerous additions to the Collection of Surgical Instruments and other departments of the Museum, which will be sufficiently indicated by the annexed list.

The Royal Commission on Scientific Instruction and the Advancement of Science, of which the Duke of Devonshire is Chairman, have been investigating the condition of the various National Scientific Museums; and their Report* on the subject, lately issued, contains the following paragraphs relating to the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England:—

"This collection of human, comparative, and morbid anatomy was founded in the last century by the celebrated John Hunter. After his decease the Hunterian Collection was purchased by the Government, and placed in the keeping of the Royal College of Surgeons, subject to periodical inspection by a board of trustees, which is kept up by co-optation of new members as vacancies occur. Since the Collection came into the possession of the College, it has been vastly extended and enriched, and is now probably the most complete and best arranged Museum of its kind in existence. It is freely accessible to students; and lectures to Members of the College, to which any person interested readily obtains admission, are delivered, on comparative anatomy, by the Conservator, Professor Flower, and, on surgical subjects, by Fellows of the College appointed to that duty, from time to time, by the Council.

"For the purchase of the original or Hunterian Collection, and in grants for buildings, the nation has contributed 57,500*l.* towards the expense of this Museum; but the entire expense of its maintenance and continued extension, amounting to about 2500*l.* a year, is discharged by the College out of the fees payable by candidates who pass the Examination for the College Diploma; and the aggregate sum which has been thus expended far exceeds that supplied by the State.

"The Comparative Anatomy Division of this Museum, besides a great Osteological Collection, contains an extensive series of preparations of the internal organs and other dissected parts of animals, preserved in spirits. Preparations of this description are requisite for a well grounded study of zoology; and as no such series exists in the British Museum, this part of the College of Surgeons' Museum may be regarded as supplemental to it. But although it might seem, on this account, desirable to incorporate the Comparative Anatomy Division of the College of Surgeons' Museum, in whole or in part, with the Zoological Collections of the British Museum, there appear to be serious objections to such a measure. For, in the first place, by far the greater part of the collection in question being the property of the College of Surgeons, a very large outlay of public money would be required for the purchase of it, were the College willing to part with it, which we have no reason to think probable. Again, so large an increase of spirit-preparations in the British Museum would increase the risk of destruction in case of fire; and, lastly, the transference of the Comparative Anatomy Collection to South Kensington would render it much less conveniently accessible than it is at present to students attending the Medical Schools, who now make use of it.

* 'Fourth Report of the Royal Commission on Scientific Instruction and the Advancement of Science,' presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty, 1874. The Report is signed by the Duke of Devonshire, Sir John Lubbock, Sir J. P. Kay-Shuttleworth, Professors W. Sharpey, T. H. Huxley, G. G. Stokes, and H. J. S. Smith, and Mr. B. Samuelson, M.P.

"Should the fund at the disposal of the College, owing to changes in medical legislation, or from any other cause, prove inadequate for the efficient maintenance and continued extension of the Museum, we are of opinion that it should receive support from the State as an Institution intimately connected with the progress of Biological Science in this country. At the same time, there seems to be no sufficient reason why it should, in such a case, pass from the custody and management of the College, under which it has so long and so greatly prospered."

THE LIBRARY.

The formation of a regular Library may be said to have commenced in the year 1801, at which time and in succeeding years presentations and bequests of books, often in considerable numbers, were made to the College—the principal donors being Dr. Baillie, Sir Everard Home, Sir Charles Blicke, the widow of Mr. Sharp, Sir Ludford Harvey, Dr. Fleming, Mr. Cotton, and Mr. Long. The Court of Assistants also directed from time to time the expenditure of small sums of money for the purchase of books, and eventually voted a sum of £100 per annum for this purpose. Sir Charles Blicke, in the year 1816, invested the sum of £300, the proceeds of which sum were to be devoted to the same object. Some of the purchases thus made were considerable, as in the cases of the Libraries of Mr. Pitt, Mr. St. Andre, and Sir Anthony Carlisle, and books of importance were added at the recommendation of the Conservator of the Museum and others. In this way a Library of considerable value was gradually accumulated, but it was only accessible to a limited number of persons. In 1827 active steps were taken to render it more generally useful, and with this object catalogues and extensive lists of desirable acquisitions were ordered to be prepared. Large sums of money were also expended during this and the ensuing two years, amounting in the aggregate to nearly £6000. A Librarian was appointed, and in 1828 the Library, then containing 10,500 volumes, was thrown open to members of the College, and all other persons engaged in the pursuit of natural science were freely admitted. This large collection, thus opened, offered great facilities to the studious. By means of extensive additions, the collection was well nigh complete in works on Medicine and Surgery, both domestic and foreign, whilst it was also very rich in publications relating to the accessory sciences. The transactions of Academies and Societies, and the collection of periodical publications in general, owing to their completeness, and the difficulty with which access can be obtained to this class of literature elsewhere than in large libraries, formed a valuable feature. The maintenance of the Library from that time to the present has involved a very considerable expenditure of the funds of the College. It has been the object of those to whose care it has been confided to ensure the completeness and excellence of the collection, and great facilities of reference have been provided by the preparation of additional catalogues and indexes of subjects. During the last year there have been added to the Library 423 volumes (comprising 98 new works) and 122 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses. The entire collection now contains 34,754 volumes, 14,037 works, and 37,367 tracts, pamphlets, essays, reports, and theses.

The following is a list of the donations that have been presented to the Library during the year 1873-74, viz.—
